Here is the final brief chapter of a story approaching the supernatural which has been for Mrs. Catherine Farmer of No. 26 Riverview Place, Yonkers, not a fiction, alas, but cruel fact:

On the night of June 18 she sat in the darkened pit of a moving picture theatre in Yonkers watching shifting pictures on the sheet. One showed the interior of a muddy trench and the caption said, "American soldiers take life at the front cheerfully."

Suddenly one of the lads lifted his trench helmet and waved straight in the eyes of the audience. He was Private Joseph T. Farmer and from a trench in France he was waving greetings to a mother in Yonkers.

When Mrs. Farmer, a little shaken, returned to her home that night she found a telegram from the War Department telling her that her son was severely wounded. To-day came a second saying that he had died of his wounds.

Young Farmer was twenty-six years old and enlisted with the Ninth Infantry, regulars, a year ago. After training at Fort Stocum and Syracuse he sailed for France with his regiment last October.

Another Yonkers man whose name appears in to-day's casualty list as having died of wounds, is Lieut. Daniel J. Carney. He died June 15.

Lieut. Carney enlisted as a private in the Regular Army eight years ago and rose from the ranks to First Sergeant. Returning from Honolulu where he had been stationed four years, he entered the training camp at Plattsburg last September and received his commission as Second Lieutenant on Nov. 23. He was attached to the 23rd Infantry and sailed for France in January. He leaves a widow, a bride of less than a year. She makes her home with the dead soldier's relatives at No. 59 Linden Street.

In a telephone office at 104th Street and Third Avenue a message of death is undelivered. It is from the War Department, announcing the death in action on May 29 of Corp. Nathan Karagold. It is addressed 16 Mrs. Annie Karagold at No. 109 East 10th Street. Some tenants who have lived there for six years say they never knew a soldier or a woman of that name. The casualty list to-day carries the corporal's name and the same address. Perhaps the mother will learn of her own sorrow by reading this.

Another name on the casualty list is that of Private Amedeo Gialanella of No. 253 East 105th Street. His sister, Mrs. Leona Magnolia, received a telegram from Washington to-day stating he had been killed in action May 23. His mother is living in Italy. The last letter received from him told of his being in the trenches. He enlisted ten months ago in the Regular Army.

Corp. H. McCreddie, reported killed in action, whose address was given as No. 204 West 67th Street, is believed to be Corp. Robert H. McCreddie, an orphan, who made his home prior to entering the service with Robert McCreddie, No. 148 23d Street, West New York, N. J. McCreddie was one of four children of Samuel McCreddie, of the 5th Street address. Four years ago his parents died and the children went to live with relatives. A short time later Robert enlisted in the army, at the age of seventeen.

"The Germans find it hard to get the Americans. They have to get up early in the morning to beat us," Stanislaw Denderewicz, mentioned as severely wounded, wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ross of No. 149 23d Street, Brooklyn, with whom he lived. The letter was dated Mother's Day. Denderewicz was twenty-five years old and enlisted on April 23, 1917, in Company D, 55th Infantry. He went to Syracuse and was transferred to Company L of the 9th Infantry, going to France last summer. He was born in Poland and came here seven years ago. He was a singer at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, and secretary of three Polish societies in Brooklyn. He was wounded June 13, according to the War Department's telegram. In the list Denderewicz's address is given as No. 95 Diamond Street.

Private Harry W. Herman, reported severely wounded, is believed by his family to have received his wounds in seeking retaliation on the enemy for a gas attack in which he was "put out." Mrs. Rebecca Herman, his mother, received her first letter from him last Monday, a few minutes before he went into the army last January. In the War Department telling of his injuries. The letter was dictated by him in a base hospital and told of his "being out."

"I am suffering (just a little) from inhaling gas which those dirty Dutchmen sent over," he wrote. "I will get me some when I get out. They will have to pay dearly and also a percentage."

Herman was in Company H, 18th Infantry when the letter was written. Before he went into the army last January he was a bricklayer and lived with his parents at No. 24 Forsyth Street. He was born in Russia twenty-two years ago and came to America in 1913.

Private Hugh Barr of Brooklyn, reported dead from wounds, lived at 45 Bedford Avenue. He enlisted in the army a year ago, two years after coming to this country from Ireland. He was a fireman in the B. R. T. power house. A brother, William, in the British Army has been heard from for six months, and it is believed he has been killed or captured. Barr was a member of Company G, 26th Infantry.

AMERICAN RED CROSS AIDS ITALIAN FAMILIES

1,000,000 Lire Has Been Given for the Support of Soldiers' Dependents.

ROME, Tuesday, June 25.—One million lire for the support of newly families of Italian soldiers who participated in the victory against the Austrians was given to the Italian Red Cross on behalf of the American Red Cross by Major Robert Perkins, head of the American Red Cross Mission to Italy, before his departure for America to-day.

American Red Cross agencies have been established in every district throughout Italy. Thirty agencies are employing 131,000 weekly workers, 44,000 women and the Red Cross is caring for over 13,000 children in schools and about 3,000 children in health centers and summer colonies.

There are seven noble veterans at the front and numerous stationary camps and rest stations for the soldiers. Going and coming from the battle line are 100 ambulances, which have received the highest praise from Italian officials during the recent fighting.

AMERICANS NOW IN NEW SECTOR OF GERMAN ALSACE

Have Already Repelled Several
Minor Raids West of Mulhausen—Gun Battle at Toul.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, June 26 (United Press).—An American unit has taken over a new sector in German Alsace. It is now permissible to announce. Already it has repelled several minor German raids.

This new sector is in the vicinity of Guebwiller. The line runs through a rugged territory of mountains, deep ravines and dense forests. It is the third sector taken over by the Americans in Alsace and the second in German territory.

Details are now available of the raid on the American lines north of Baccarat Sunday night. The Germans laid down two heavy box barrages, completely surrounding two Franco-American outposts.

Simultaneously enemy planes bombed Radonville and Neuviller to the north.

During the barrage two groups of German infantry, each numbering more than 150, attacked the French and Americans who had been cut off. In one of the positions the Americans failed to give a foot, although they were outnumbered three to one. They fought until practically every one of them received wounds that will incapacitate them only temporarily.

The other group of Germans penetrated a village and took a few French and American prisoners. They fled before a counter-attack.

On the Toul front the Germans are heavily bombarding the American positions, throwing large quantities of gas into Bois de Jury, Bois de Remieres and other sectors.

Guebwiller is 12 miles north and slightly west of Mulhausen. The line at this point passes four miles west of Guebwiller and about five miles east of the French frontier.

The other American sector in German Alsace is about 20 miles to the south. The American sector in French Alsace is 55 miles to the north.

BATTALION OF GERMANS IN BADONVILLER ATTACK

Only Two Companies of French and American Troops That Defended Position.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Tuesday, June 25 (Associated Press).—The raid Monday morning in which two companies of French and American troops near Badonviller repulsed a German attack.

The enemy advanced in two columns. The way had been prepared by a heavy bombardment with gas shells.

The official statement issued Tuesday in Berlin said: "The names of American and French prisoners brought to Badonviller morning east of Mulhausen have increased to more than 400."

Our Patriotism Has No Geography, Says Hays.

PORTLAND, Me., June 25.—Will H. Hays of Indianapolis, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, conferred with party leaders here yesterday and delivered an address at a conference attended by members of the State and County Committees. "I have been from coast to coast, and I think God there is no geography in our patriotism," Mr. Hays said.

1,148 IN THIRD
DRAFT QUOTA HERE
START FOR CAMP

Contingent Off for Spartanburg Taken From Manhattan and Bronx Boards.

Drafted men to the number of 1,148, all drawn from the Bronx and Manhattan boards exclusively, started over the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central Railroads for Camp Wadsworth at noon to-day. They were the third quota from the city to entrain this week. While they were converging on the Liberty and Cortlandt Street Ferries they passed 465 recruits from Elmira bound for the Long Island City Railroad station and Camp Upton.

To-day's quotas were drawn from twelve boards all over Manhattan and Board No. 8 in the Bronx. Exclusive Washington Heights and the Gas House district made their first steps toward democracy to-day when the boys with silk hose and those in brogans met on the common footing of the National Army, whose sons they had become.

Patriotic Italians in the Bronx gave free rein to their ardor when 270 men from Local Board No. 8, in the heart of the Italian quarter, started for Camp Wadsworth and the glory everybody believes awaits them in France or their native land. This number was the sole contribution of the borough to to-day's quota.

In motor buses and escorted by a detachment of the Second Field Artillery, the draft men made a mile-long tour of the Italian district, being everywhere hailed by hysterical "Vivas" and waving of the Stars and Stripes and tricolor of Italy. A band and the artillerymen escorted them to the Bronx line, whence a permanent escort of about sixty decorated automobiles conveyed the drafted men through Manhattan and to the Cortlandt Street Ferry. Thence the future soldiers were ferried across the river to take train for Spartanburg, S. C.

Although the order issued last night for 220,000 men probably will displace the present available in Class One in most of the draft districts, it was pointed out that the bulk of the men called for July will not be to camp until after the middle of the month, and by that time it is expected the additions gained by classification and by the new regulation of twenty-one-year-old youths will be available.

In the quotas assigned to the various States in to-day's call, 3,500 whites will come from New York and 1,900 negroes. From New Jersey 2,500 white men and 500 negroes will be called. The white men from New York and New Jersey will be trained at Camp Humphreys, Va., and the negroes at Camp Dix.

In the call announced last night New York leads the list with 22,341.

LATEST DRAFT CALL
FOR 124,525 PUTS
TOTAL AT 367,961

Mobilization Begins July 5 With Entrainment of 27,257 White Selected Men.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—While and colored draft registrants numbering 124,525 were summoned to the colors for general military service in a call issued to-day by President Marshal-General Crowder. Mobilization will take place at intervals during the month of July, starting with the entrainment of 27,257 white selected men on July 5.

To-day's call combined with that for 220,000 to be mobilized July 22-23 ordered by General Crowder last night and with the various special calls previously issued will remove from civilian life in July a total of 367,961 men, the largest number summoned in any one month since the draft became operative.

The call issued to-day is divided into four sections for entrainment purposes. From July 5 to 9, white registrants numbering 33,253 are to be entrained; from July 15 to 19, whites, 21,253; from July 20 to 24, colored, 45,000; and from July 25 to 31, colored, 25,011.

Although the order issued last night for 220,000 men probably will displace the present available in Class One in most of the draft districts, it was pointed out that the bulk of the men called for July will not be to camp until after the middle of the month, and by that time it is expected the additions gained by classification and by the new regulation of twenty-one-year-old youths will be available.

In the quotas assigned to the various States in to-day's call, 3,500 whites will come from New York and 1,900 negroes. From New Jersey 2,500 white men and 500 negroes will be called. The white men from New York and New Jersey will be trained at Camp Humphreys, Va., and the negroes at Camp Dix.

In the call announced last night New York leads the list with 22,341.

KING AND QUEEN
EAT 'BUCKWHEATS' WITH AMERICANS

Take "Pot Luck" at Y. M. C. A. Hut in London and Relish Cakes.

LONDON, June 25.—King George and Queen Mary tasted American buckwheat cakes for the first time yesterday at the Eagle Hut of the American Y. M. C. A. The visit was a surprise one, made at the King's own suggestion.

Late in the afternoon the secretary of the Eagle hut received a telephone call. The official at the other end of the line said in a matter of fact tone: "The King and Queen desire to call at the Eagle hut and will be there in a few minutes."

The secretary at first thought that somebody was trying to play a joke on him. The official on the phone explained that the visit was to be purely informal and the King would prefer that no preparations of any kind be made. The King and Queen soon afterward drove up and walked across a dirt court where five sailors from an American destroyer flotilla were playing catch with three British soldiers. They then climbed a dozen steps and went into the big entrance hall, which was agogged with American, Canadian and British soldiers and sailors, some eating and others playing billiards or writing letters.

"Our boys are shy, and you have good things to eat," said the King, smiling toward the tables where a row of Americans were devouring sandwiches and panades.

"What is the most distinctive American dish you have here?" he asked
